

Week 4

```
{
  "week": 4,
  "phase": "discovery",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "A New Beginning",

    "weekHeadline": "Your pregnancy journey has officially begun. Your baby is tiny, but incredible development is already underway.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a poppy seed",
      "length": "about 1 mm",
      "weight": "less than 1 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I may be tiny, but my journey has already begun."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "The foundations of my brain, spinal cord and nervous system are beginning to form. My cells are multiplying rapidly and every day brings major developmental progress."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your body has begun producing large amounts of pregnancy hormones even though outward changes are not visible yet.",

    "emotionalState": "Excitement, disbelief and anxiety often arrive together as you process this life-changing news.",

    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Missed period",
      "Breast tenderness",
      "Mild cramping",
      "Fatigue"
    ],

    "selfCareTip": "Focus on rest, hydration and taking your prenatal vitamins consistently.",

    "reassurance": "Many women don't feel very pregnant at this stage. That is completely normal."
  },
}
```

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Building The Brain",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Folate",
 "Vitamin B9"
],

"whyNow": "The neural tube that becomes your baby's brain and spinal cord is forming.",

"foods": [
 "Palak",
 "Methi",
 "Moong Sprouts",
 "Kala Chana",
 "Orange"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Kala Chana",
 "benefit": "Rich in folate, iron and protein that support early development.",
 "howToConsume": "Soak overnight and eat as a morning snack or chaat."
 },

"mealIdea": "Palak dal with roti and orange slices.",

"tip": "Take folic acid supplements exactly as prescribed."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Start prenatal vitamins, book your first doctor appointment and begin tracking symptoms.",

"skipThisWeek": "Skipping folic acid supplementation or spending hours comparing your pregnancy to others online.",

"redFlags": "Call your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fainting, or one-sided pelvic pain.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "You need to eat for two immediately.",
 "truth": "Nutrient quality matters far more than quantity during early pregnancy."
 }

```
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Ahir Bhairav",

  "affirmation": "My body knows how to nurture this new life.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What does becoming a mother mean to you today?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, main aa gaya hoon.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, I have arrived."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "How did you feel when you first learned you were pregnant?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write or record the story of the day you discovered your pregnancy.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Capture a photo of your positive pregnancy test, first doctor visit notes, or something that represents this new beginning.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited, overwhelmed, nervous and still processing the reality of pregnancy.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Celebrate the news with her and reassure her that you are in this together.",

  "oneMission": "Ask her what excited her most when she saw the positive test.",

  "shareMessage": "A tiny new chapter has begun ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
```

Week 5:

```
{
  "week": 5,
  "phase": "discovery",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "The Tiny Heart",

    "weekHeadline": "One of the most important milestones of pregnancy happens this week — your baby's tiny heart begins to beat.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "an apple seed",
      "length": "about 2 mm",
      "weight": "less than 1 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, my tiny heart has started beating for the very first time."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My heart is beginning to beat, and the foundations of my brain, spinal cord and major organs continue developing rapidly. Even though I am tiny, my body is working hard every day."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Pregnancy hormones continue rising rapidly as your body adapts to supporting your growing baby.",

    "emotionalState": "You may move between excitement, joy, disbelief and worry throughout the day.",

    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Nausea",
      "Breast tenderness",
      "Fatigue",
      "Bloating"
    ],

    "selfCareTip": "Keep healthy snacks nearby and avoid letting yourself become overly hungry, as an empty stomach can worsen nausea."
```

"reassurance": "Feeling tired does not mean something is wrong. Your body is working around the clock to support your baby."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Managing Early Nausea",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Vitamin B6",
 "Folate"
],

"whyNow": "Hormonal changes often trigger nausea and food aversions while your baby's nervous system continues developing.",

"foods": [
 "Banana",
 "Chickpeas",
 "Potato",
 "Spinach",
 "Orange"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Banana",
 "benefit": "Provides Vitamin B6, which may help reduce nausea while supplying quick energy.",
 "howToConsume": "Eat as a morning snack or blend into a smoothie."
 },

"mealIdea": "Chana chaat with banana and fresh fruit.",

"tip": "Small, frequent meals are often easier to tolerate than large meals."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Carry healthy snacks, increase hydration and prioritize rest whenever possible.",

"skipThisWeek": "Skipping meals or going long periods without eating.",

"redFlags": "Call your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent vomiting preventing fluids, fainting or severe dizziness.",

```
"mythBuster": {
  "myth": "Morning sickness only happens in the morning.",
  "truth": "Pregnancy nausea can occur at any time of the day or night."
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bhupali",

  "affirmation": "Every day my baby grows stronger within me.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What is your biggest hope for your baby?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, mera chhota sa dil ban raha hai.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, my tiny heart is beginning to form."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What is your biggest hope for your baby right now?",

  "journalPrompt": "If you could send one message to your baby today, what would it be?",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo of something that made you smile this week or represents your hopes for your baby.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Nauseous, tired, emotional and still adjusting to the reality of pregnancy.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Be patient if plans change due to fatigue or nausea. Offer support without waiting to be asked.",

  "oneMission": "Bring her favorite healthy snack or drink today without being asked.",

  "shareMessage": "Our little miracle is growing every day ❤️"
},
```

```
"audioEnabled": true
}
```

Week 6

```
{
  "week": 6,
  "phase": "discovery",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "The Beating Heart",
```

```
    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's heart is now beating rhythmically, and major organs are beginning to take shape.",
```

```
    "size": {
      "fruit": "a pomegranate seed",
      "length": "about 4-6 mm",
      "weight": "less than 1 g"
    },
```

```
    "reveal": "Maa, my little heart is beating steadily and helping me grow stronger every day."
  },
```

```
  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My heart is beating regularly, my brain is developing rapidly, and the foundations of my eyes, ears and limbs are beginning to form. Although I'm tiny, many important systems are already under construction."
  },
```

```
  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Pregnancy hormones are increasing rapidly and your body is working hard behind the scenes to support your growing baby.",
```

```
    "emotionalState": "You may feel excited one moment and exhausted the next. Emotional ups and downs are common this week.",
```

```
    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Morning sickness",
      "Food aversions",
      "Smell sensitivity",
      "Extreme fatigue"
    ],
```

"selfCareTip": "Focus on getting through one day at a time. Rest is productive work during pregnancy.",

"reassurance": "The intensity of your symptoms does not predict how healthy your pregnancy is."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Surviving Morning Sickness",

"focusNutrients": [

"Vitamin B6",

"Hydration"

],

"whyNow": "Nausea often peaks around this stage while your baby's organs continue developing rapidly.",

"foods": [

"Banana",

"Oats",

"Peanuts",

"Coconut Water",

"Plain Crackers"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Sattu",

"benefit": "Provides protein, iron and steady energy when appetite is low.",

"howToConsume": "Mix with water, lemon and roasted jeera for a refreshing drink."

},

"mealIdea": "Banana oatmeal bowl with a glass of sattu drink.",

"tip": "Eat before you feel hungry. An empty stomach often makes nausea worse."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Keep dry snacks nearby, eat small frequent meals and prioritize hydration.",

"skipThisWeek": "Forcing large meals or ignoring signs of dehydration.",

"redFlags": "Call your doctor if you cannot keep fluids down for more than 24 hours, experience severe vomiting, heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain or fainting.",

```
"mythBuster": {
  "myth": "More nausea means a healthier baby.",
  "truth": "Pregnancy symptoms vary widely and do not reliably predict pregnancy outcomes."
},
},
```

```
"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Yaman",
```

```
  "affirmation": "I trust the wisdom of my body.",
```

```
  "reflectionPrompt": "What strength have you discovered in yourself recently?",
```

```
  "audioLine": "Maa, mera dil dhadak raha hai.",
```

```
  "audioTranslation": "Maa, my heart is beating."
},
```

```
"reflectAndRemember": {
```

```
  "reflectionPrompt": "What strength have you discovered in yourself this week?",
```

```
  "journalPrompt": "Describe one challenge you faced this week and how you handled it.",
```

```
  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
  "textJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
  "photoPrompt": "Capture a simple moment that reminds you how strong you are becoming.",
```

```
  "cameraEnabled": true
},
```

```
"partnerCorner": {
```

```
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Exhausted, nauseous and frustrated that everyday activities suddenly feel difficult.",
```

```
  "whatYouCanDo": "Take over small daily tasks and make sure she always has access to water and snacks.",
```

```
  "oneMission": "Handle one household responsibility completely this week without being asked.",
```

```
  "shareMessage": "Every difficult day is helping our little one grow stronger ❤️"
```

```
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 7
{
  "week": 7,
  "phase": "discovery",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Tiny Features Begin",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's face is beginning to take shape and tiny arms and legs continue developing.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a blueberry",
      "length": "about 10 mm",
      "weight": "less than 1 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I'm starting to look a little more like a baby every day."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My brain is growing rapidly. Tiny arm buds and leg buds are developing, and the foundations of my eyes, ears and nose are becoming more defined. My heart continues beating strongly."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your uterus is growing, although it may not be visible yet. Hormonal changes continue affecting your energy, digestion and appetite.",

    "emotionalState": "You may feel excited one moment and worried the next. Emotional ups and downs are a normal part of early pregnancy.",

    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Nausea",
      "Food cravings or aversions",
      "Frequent urination",
      "Fatigue"
    ],
```

"selfCareTip": "Focus on hydration and don't feel guilty about needing extra rest.",

"reassurance": "Every pregnancy is different. Some women have many symptoms while others have very few."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Hydration First",

"focusNutrients": [

"Fluids",

"Electrolytes"

],

"whyNow": "Vomiting and nausea can increase fluid loss, making hydration especially important.",

"foods": [

"Watermelon",

"Cucumber",

"Coconut Water",

"Lemon Water",

"Muskmelon"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Nariyal Pani",

"benefit": "Provides hydration and natural electrolytes while being easy on the stomach.",

"howToConsume": "One fresh glass during mid-morning."

},

"mealIdea": "Cucumber salad with coconut water and fresh fruit.",

"tip": "Take small sips throughout the day instead of drinking large amounts at once."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Stay hydrated, continue prenatal supplements and take short walks if you feel comfortable.",

"skipThisWeek": "Comparing your symptoms or pregnancy journey with others.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent vomiting, fever, or signs of dehydration.",

```
"mythBuster": {
  "myth": "Every pregnant woman should feel the same symptoms.",
  "truth": "Healthy pregnancies can have very different symptom patterns."
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bageshree",

  "affirmation": "I welcome this journey with love and patience.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What kind of childhood would you like to create for your baby?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, main dheere dheere tum jaisa lagne laga hoon.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, I am slowly beginning to look like you."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What kind of childhood would you like to create for your baby?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe your dream day with your future child.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo of a place where you feel peaceful and would love to spend time with your child one day.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Anxious about whether everything is progressing normally while also feeling excited about the journey ahead.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Listen carefully without immediately trying to solve every concern.",

  "oneMission": "Ask her what is worrying her most right now and simply listen.",

  "shareMessage": "We are learning and growing together every day ❤️"
},
```

```
"audioEnabled": true
}
```

Week 8

```
{
  "week": 8,
  "phase": "discovery",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Officially A Baby",
```

```
    "weekHeadline": "Your baby has completed the embryonic stage and is now officially considered a fetus.",
```

```
    "size": {
      "fruit": "a rajma bean",
      "length": "about 1.6 cm",
      "weight": "about 1 g"
    },
```

```
    "reveal": "Maa, I am no longer an embryo. I am officially your baby now."
  },
```

```
  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My fingers and toes are beginning to form, my facial features are becoming more recognizable, and all of my major organs have started developing. The foundations are now in place for the next stage of growth."
  },
```

```
  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your uterus has grown to about the size of an orange. Hormonal changes continue affecting digestion, energy levels and appetite.",
```

```
    "emotionalState": "Many mothers feel a mixture of excitement and uncertainty as they approach their first major scan.",
```

```
    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Nausea",
      "Breast tenderness",
      "Fatigue",
      "Bloating"
    ],
```

"selfCareTip": "Focus on nourishing yourself rather than trying to eat perfectly. Small healthy choices add up.",

"reassurance": "The first trimester can feel long and uncomfortable, but your baby is making incredible progress every day."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Building Vital Organs",

"focusNutrients": [

"Protein",

"Folate"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby's major organs are forming and need a steady supply of nutrients for healthy development.",

"foods": [

"Paneer",

"Moong Dal",

"Rajma",

"Curd",

"Milk"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Moong Dal",

"benefit": "Provides protein, folate and easy-to-digest nutrition during early pregnancy.",

"howToConsume": "Moong dal khichdi or moong dal soup."

},

"mealIdea": "Moong dal khichdi with curd and vegetables.",

"tip": "Try to include a protein source in every meal and snack."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Prepare questions for your next appointment, continue healthy eating habits and prioritize rest.",

"skipThisWeek": "Assuming every symptom or lack of symptoms means something is wrong.",

"redFlags": "Call your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent vomiting with dehydration, fever, or severe dizziness.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "No symptoms means something is wrong with the pregnancy.",
 "truth": "Healthy pregnancies can have very different symptom patterns, including very mild symptoms."
}
,

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Hamsadhwani",

"affirmation": "My baby and I are growing together every day.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What are three things you are grateful for this week?",

"audioLine": "Maa, ab main ek chhota sa baby hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am now officially a little baby."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "What are three things you are grateful for today?",

"journalPrompt": "Write a gratitude letter to your growing baby.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture a moment of self-care, gratitude or joy from this week.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited about upcoming scans but also nervous about whether everything is progressing normally.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Attend appointments when possible and reassure her that it's normal to feel anxious.",

"oneMission": "Ask her if there is anything she would like to discuss with the doctor and help her write it down.",

"shareMessage": "Our little baby is growing stronger every day ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 9

{
 "week": 9,
 "phase": "discovery",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Tiny Movements Begin",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is starting to move, stretch and wiggle, even though you cannot feel it yet.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a green olive",
 "length": "about 2.3 cm",
 "weight": "about 2 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, I am beginning to move around in my tiny world."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My arms and legs are growing longer, my joints are forming, and I am starting to make small movements. My heart has now developed four chambers and is working hard every day."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your body is increasing blood production to support your growing baby. Hormonal changes continue affecting energy levels and digestion.",

"emotionalState": "You may feel more connected to the pregnancy while still wondering what lies ahead.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Nausea",
 "Fatigue",

"Food aversions",
"Mood swings"
],

"selfCareTip": "Listen to your body. Rest when you need rest and don't feel guilty about slowing down.",

"reassurance": "Many mothers worry because they cannot feel the baby yet. At this stage, movements are still too tiny to notice."
},

"nutrition": {
"nutritionTheme": "Supporting Brain Development",

"focusNutrients": [
"Choline",
"Protein"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's brain is developing rapidly and requires a constant supply of nutrients.",

"foods": [
"Soybeans",
"Paneer",
"Milk",
"Peanuts",
"Moong Dal"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
"food": "Peanuts",
"benefit": "Provide protein, healthy fats and choline that support early brain development.",
"howToConsume": "Roasted peanuts as a snack or mixed into chaat."
},

"mealIdea": "Soybean pulao with curd and salad.",

"tip": "Include a protein source with every meal to support your baby's rapidly developing brain."
},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Continue prenatal vitamins, stay hydrated and build a consistent sleep routine.",

"skipThisWeek": "Panicking if pregnancy symptoms change from day to day.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fainting, fever, or persistent vomiting causing dehydration.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "If symptoms reduce, something is wrong.",
 "truth": "Pregnancy symptoms naturally fluctuate and often change throughout the first trimester."
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Kedar",

"affirmation": "I choose calm over fear and trust over worry.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What helps you feel peaceful during uncertain moments?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main hilna shuru kar raha hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am beginning to move."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "What does becoming a parent mean to you?",

"journalPrompt": "Describe how your life may change after your baby arrives.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a photo of something that represents your future family.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Emotionally up and down as hormones, anticipation and uncertainty continue to mix together.",

```
"whatYouCanDo": "Offer reassurance rather than trying to solve every concern.",

"oneMission": "Tell her one thing you admire about how she is handling pregnancy.",

"shareMessage": "Every week brings us closer to meeting our little one ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 10
{
  "week": 10,
  "phase": "discovery",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Tiny Fingers & Toes",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's fingers, toes and tiny facial features are becoming more distinct every day.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a strawberry",
      "length": "about 3.1 cm",
      "weight": "about 4 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, my tiny fingers and toes are now forming, and I'm starting to look more like the baby you'll meet one day."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My fingers and toes are separating, my jaw and facial features are developing, and my brain continues building millions of new connections. I can even make tiny movements, although you cannot feel them yet."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your blood volume continues increasing and your body is working hard to support your baby's rapid growth. Some mothers notice their clothes fitting differently.",

    "emotionalState": "You may feel more connected to the pregnancy while still experiencing uncertainty about the future.",
```

```
"commonSymptoms": [
  "Fatigue",
  "Nausea",
  "Frequent urination",
  "Food cravings or aversions"
],
```

```
"selfCareTip": "Focus on small healthy habits rather than trying to do everything perfectly.",
```

```
"reassurance": "Every pregnancy looks different. Comparing your journey to someone else's rarely provides useful information."
},
```

```
"nutrition": {
  "nutritionTheme": "Growing Stronger Every Day",
```

```
"focusNutrients": [
  "Protein",
  "Iron"
],
```

```
"whyNow": "Your baby is rapidly building tissues, muscles and organs that depend on a steady supply of protein and iron.",
```

```
"foods": [
  "Paneer",
  "Dal",
  "Kala Chana",
  "Rajma",
  "Spinach"
],
```

```
"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
  "food": "Paneer",
  "benefit": "Provides high-quality protein and calcium to support your baby's rapid growth.",
  "howToConsume": "Paneer bhurji, paneer tikka or mixed into vegetable dishes."
},
```

```
"mealIdea": "Paneer bhurji with roti and cucumber salad.",
```

```
"tip": "Try including protein at breakfast to help maintain steady energy levels."
},
```

```
"actionPlan": {
```

"doThisWeek": "Organize your medical reports, maintain healthy routines and continue taking prenatal vitamins.",

"skipThisWeek": "Skipping supplements because symptoms have improved.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent vomiting with dehydration, fever, or fainting.",

```
"mythBuster": {
  "myth": "Exercise during pregnancy is dangerous.",
  "truth": "Most healthy pregnancies benefit from doctor-approved physical activity."
},
```

```
"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Durga",
```

"affirmation": "I am creating a safe and loving home for my baby.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What family value would you most like to pass on to your child?",

"audioLine": "Maa, meri chhoti ungliyan ban rahi hain.",

```
"audioTranslation": "Maa, my tiny fingers are forming."
},
```

```
"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What family value would you most like to pass on?",
```

"journalPrompt": "Write about one lesson from your childhood that shaped who you are today.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture something meaningful from your childhood that you hope to share with your baby someday.",

```
"cameraEnabled": true
},
```

```
"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Tired but hopeful as she moves closer to the end of the first trimester.",
```

"whatYouCanDo": "Help organize appointments, reports and upcoming pregnancy milestones.",

"oneMission": "Create a folder for all pregnancy records and scan reports.",

"shareMessage": "Ten weeks of love, growth and anticipation already ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 11

{
 "week": 11,
 "phase": "discovery",

 "babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Growing Fast",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is becoming more active, and many important body systems are now functioning together.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a fig",
 "length": "about 4.1 cm",
 "weight": "about 7 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I'm stretching, kicking and growing stronger every day, even if you can't feel me yet."
 },

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My fingers and toes are fully separated, my bones are beginning to harden, and I can stretch, kick and move inside my tiny world. My facial features are becoming more recognizable every day."
 },

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your uterus continues expanding, and your body is producing more blood to nourish your growing baby.",

"emotionalState": "You may feel more confident than a few weeks ago, but occasional worries and uncertainty are still completely normal.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Fatigue",

"Bloating",

"Constipation",

"Mood swings"

],

"selfCareTip": "Focus on sleep, hydration and gentle movement. Small habits create a strong foundation for the months ahead.",

"reassurance": "Every mother experiences pregnancy differently. There is no 'correct' way to feel."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Happy Digestion",

"focusNutrients": [

"Fiber",

"Hydration"

],

"whyNow": "Pregnancy hormones can slow digestion and increase the likelihood of constipation.",

"foods": [

"Guava",

"Oats",

"Vegetables",

"Whole Grains",

"Papaya"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Guava",

"benefit": "Rich in fiber and Vitamin C, helping support digestion and immunity.",

"howToConsume": "Fresh slices as a snack or added to fruit chaat."

},

"mealIdea": "Vegetable oats upma with a side of guava.",

"tip": "Increase water intake whenever you increase fiber intake."

},

```
"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Prioritize sleep, continue healthy routines and celebrate how far you've already come.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Comparing your bump size, symptoms or weight gain with others.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent vomiting, fever, fainting or severe dehydration.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Every pregnancy bump should look the same.",
    "truth": "Bump shape and size vary significantly between women and pregnancies."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bihag",

  "affirmation": "I celebrate every small milestone on this journey.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What has surprised you most about pregnancy so far?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, ek din main tumhara haath pakadunga.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, one day I will hold your hand."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What has surprised you most about pregnancy so far?",

  "journalPrompt": "Record the most unexpected thing you have experienced since becoming pregnant.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a candid photo that captures this stage of your pregnancy journey.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
```

"whatSheMayFeel": "More confident than before, but still looking for reassurance from time to time.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Celebrate progress instead of focusing only on future milestones.",

"oneMission": "Plan a simple treat, outing or surprise that helps her feel appreciated.",

"shareMessage": "Look how far we've already come together ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 12

{
 "week": 12,
 "phase": "discovery",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "First Trimester Complete",

"weekHeadline": "You've reached a major milestone. Your baby's organs are formed and the first trimester is coming to an end.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a lime",
 "length": "about 5.4 cm",
 "weight": "about 14 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, we did it. We've completed our first big chapter together."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "Most of my major organs have formed and are beginning to function. I can move my arms and legs, open and close my tiny fingers, and my reflexes are developing every day."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your uterus is now much larger than before and your body has adapted significantly to support your growing baby.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel relief, gratitude and renewed confidence as they reach the end of the first trimester.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Fatigue",
 "Occasional nausea",
 "Frequent urination",
 "Breast changes"
],

"selfCareTip": "Take a moment to celebrate how much your body has accomplished during the past three months.",

"reassurance": "The first trimester can feel long and exhausting. Reaching this milestone is worth celebrating."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Building Healthy Blood",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Iron",
 "Vitamin C"
],

"whyNow": "Your blood volume is increasing rapidly to support your growing baby and placenta.",

"foods": [
 "Spinach",
 "Rajma",
 "Kala Chana",
 "Jaggery",
 "Amla"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Amla",
 "benefit": "Rich in Vitamin C, which helps improve iron absorption and supports immunity.",
 "howToConsume": "Fresh, as juice, or mixed into chutneys."
},

"mealIdea": "Rajma rice with salad and fresh amla.",

"tip": "Pair iron-rich foods with Vitamin C-rich foods to improve absorption."
},

```
"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Celebrate completing the first trimester, review upcoming appointments and continue healthy habits.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Stopping healthy routines simply because some symptoms may start improving.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent vomiting with dehydration, fever, severe headache or fainting.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "The difficult part is over now.",
    "truth": "Each trimester brings new experiences, milestones and challenges."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Yaman",

  "affirmation": "We have completed our first beautiful milestone together.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "How would you describe your first trimester journey?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, humne pehla padaav paar kar liya.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, we have crossed our first milestone."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "How has the first trimester changed you?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write a letter to your future self describing this moment and everything you've learned so far.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Capture a special photo celebrating the completion of your first trimester.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},
```

```
"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Relieved, proud, emotional and grateful to have completed the first trimester.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Acknowledge everything she has been through and celebrate this important milestone.",

  "oneMission": "Tell her what you are most proud of from the first trimester journey.",

  "shareMessage": "First trimester complete ❤️ Look how far we've already come together."
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 13
{
  "week": 13,
  "phase": "connection",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Hello Second Trimester",

    "weekHeadline": "Welcome to the second trimester. Your baby is growing rapidly and many mothers begin feeling more energetic.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a lemon",
      "length": "about 7.4 cm",
      "weight": "about 23 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, we've entered a brand new chapter together."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My vocal cords are forming, my fingerprints are beginning to develop, and my bones continue getting stronger. I can move around freely inside my tiny world."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "For many mothers, nausea begins improving and energy levels slowly return. Your uterus continues expanding upward from the pelvis.",
```

"emotionalState": "Relief and excitement often replace some of the uncertainty of the first trimester.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Improved energy",
 "Reduced nausea",
 "Increased appetite",
 "Occasional headaches"
],

"selfCareTip": "Use your returning energy to establish healthy habits that can support you throughout the second trimester.",

"reassurance": "Every pregnancy progresses differently. It's normal if your symptoms haven't changed dramatically yet."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Powering The Second Trimester",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Iron",
 "Protein"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's growth rate is increasing and your body is producing more blood than ever before.",

"foods": [
 "Palak",
 "Paneer",
 "Rajma",
 "Kala Chana",
 "Lentils"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Palak",
 "benefit": "Provides iron, folate and antioxidants that support healthy growth.",
 "howToConsume": "Palak dal, palak paneer or blended into soups."
},

"mealIdea": "Palak paneer with roti and cucumber salad.",

```
"tip": "Continue focusing on nutrient quality rather than simply eating more food."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Take your first bump photo, begin a pregnancy journal and celebrate entering the second trimester.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Feeling guilty if pregnancy doesn't always feel magical or exciting.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fever, severe headaches, or sudden swelling.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Good mothers instantly feel bonded to their baby.",
    "truth": "Bonding develops differently for everyone and often grows gradually over time."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bhupali",

  "affirmation": "I welcome this new chapter with confidence and gratitude.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What excites you most about becoming a parent?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, meri pehchaan ban rahi hai.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, my unique identity is beginning to form."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What excites you most about becoming a parent?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe your first image of life with your baby.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take your first dedicated bump photo and save it as the beginning of your second-trimester journey.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},
```

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "More energetic, optimistic and excited about the months ahead.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Encourage enjoyable activities she may have missed during the first trimester.",

"oneMission": "Take your first official bump photo together and celebrate entering the second trimester.",

"shareMessage": "A new chapter begins today ❤️ Our little one is growing beautifully."
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 14

{
 "week": 14,
 "phase": "connection",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Facial Expressions Begin",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby's face is becoming more expressive, and tiny movements happen throughout the day.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a peach",
 "length": "about 8.7 cm",
 "weight": "about 43 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I'm starting to make tiny expressions and becoming more uniquely me every day."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My facial muscles are developing, allowing me to make tiny expressions. My neck is becoming stronger, and my body is growing faster than my head for the first time."
 },

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your uterus is growing steadily and your bump may begin becoming more noticeable. Many mothers experience improved energy levels.",

"emotionalState": "You may feel more connected to your baby as pregnancy starts becoming visible to the outside world.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Improved energy",
 "Increased appetite",
 "Round ligament discomfort",
 "Mild nasal congestion"
],

"selfCareTip": "Pay attention to posture as your center of gravity slowly begins shifting.",

"reassurance": "Not having a visible bump yet is completely normal. Every body shows pregnancy differently."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Building Strong Bones",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Calcium",
 "Protein"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's bones are becoming stronger and need a steady supply of calcium and protein.",

"foods": [
 "Milk",
 "Paneer",
 "Curd",
 "Ragi",
 "Sesame Seeds"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Ragi",
 "benefit": "One of India's richest natural sources of calcium and also provides fiber and iron.",
 "howToConsume": "Ragi dosa, ragi porridge or ragi roti."
},

"mealIdea": "Ragi dosa with curd and vegetable chutney.",

```
"tip": "Spread calcium-rich foods across the day for better absorption."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Take weekly bump photos, continue gentle exercise and focus on maintaining healthy routines.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Buying every baby product you see online.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent headaches, fever or fluid leakage.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "A bigger bump means a bigger baby.",
    "truth": "Bump size depends on many factors and does not reliably predict baby size."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Kalyan",

  "affirmation": "My baby feels my love every day.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What do you hope your baby learns from you?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, main chhoti chhoti expressions bana raha hoon.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, I am making tiny facial expressions."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What do you hope your baby learns from you?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write about the qualities you admire most in others and hope to pass on.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Capture your growing bump and save a memory from this week.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},
```

```
"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited as pregnancy becomes more visible and real.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Notice and appreciate her changing body with kindness and encouragement.",

  "oneMission": "Give her a genuine compliment about something beyond appearance today.",

  "shareMessage": "Our little family is growing in every way ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 15
{
  "week": 15,
  "phase": "connection",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Growing Stronger",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's body is growing quickly, and tiny movements are becoming more coordinated every day.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "an apple",
      "length": "about 10.1 cm",
      "weight": "about 70 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I am stretching, moving and growing stronger with each passing day."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My muscles and bones are becoming stronger. I can move my arms, legs and joints more smoothly now. My ears are developing, and I am preparing to hear the world around me in the weeks ahead."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your bump may become more noticeable now. Increased blood flow can give your skin a healthy glow, while your growing uterus may cause occasional stretching sensations.",
```

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel more settled and optimistic during this stage, while also beginning to imagine life after birth.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Growing bump",
 "Increased appetite",
 "Round ligament pain",
 "Occasional headaches"
],

"selfCareTip": "Stay active with gentle movement and focus on maintaining good posture as your body changes.",

"reassurance": "Mild stretching and pulling sensations are common as your uterus expands to make room for your growing baby."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Supporting Bones And Teeth",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Vitamin D",
 "Calcium"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's bones and future teeth are developing rapidly and need calcium and Vitamin D.",

"foods": [
 "Milk",
 "Paneer",
 "Curd",
 "Ragi",
 "Sesame Seeds"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Til (Sesame Seeds)",
 "benefit": "Provides calcium, healthy fats and important minerals that support bone development.",
 "howToConsume": "Til laddoo, sprinkled over salads or mixed into chutneys."
},

"mealIdea": "Ragi porridge with nuts and a bowl of curd.",

"tip": "Spend a little time in morning sunlight if advised by your doctor and continue any prescribed Vitamin D supplements."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Talk to your baby every day, continue healthy routines and make time for relaxation.",

"skipThisWeek": "Ignoring stress or pushing yourself to maintain your pre-pregnancy pace.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fluid leakage, persistent severe headaches or fever.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Babies cannot benefit from hearing your voice before birth.",
 "truth": "Your baby is already developing the structures needed for hearing and will soon begin recognizing familiar sounds."
 }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Bageshree",

"affirmation": "I am building a bond that will last a lifetime.",

"reflectionPrompt": "When do you feel closest to your baby?",

"audioLine": "Maa, meri duniya badh rahi hai.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, my world is expanding."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "When do you feel closest to your baby?",

"journalPrompt": "Describe the moments when pregnancy feels most real to you.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture your favorite pregnancy moment from this week.",

```
"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Increasingly connected to the baby and excited about the journey ahead.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Join her in bonding activities like talking, reading or singing to the baby.",

  "oneMission": "Read a short story or share a favorite childhood memory with the baby together.",

  "shareMessage": "Our little one is growing stronger every day and so is our bond ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 16
{
  "week": 16,
  "phase": "connection",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Listening Begins",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby is growing stronger, and the tiny structures needed for hearing are becoming more developed.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "an avocado",
      "length": "about 11.6 cm",
      "weight": "about 100 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I am growing stronger every day and getting ready to hear your voice."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My bones are hardening, my muscles are becoming stronger and my ears are developing rapidly. Soon I will begin responding to sounds from the outside world."
  },

  "momJourney": {
```

"physicalChanges": "Your uterus is continuing to expand, and your bump may now be clearly visible. Some mothers notice increased energy and a healthy pregnancy glow.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel more confident and emotionally settled during this phase of pregnancy.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Growing bump",
 "Increased appetite",
 "Back discomfort",
 "Occasional round ligament pain"
],

"selfCareTip": "Focus on posture and wear supportive footwear as your center of gravity gradually shifts.",

"reassurance": "Mild aches and stretching sensations are often a normal sign of your body adapting to pregnancy."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Building Strong Bones",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Calcium",
 "Vitamin D"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's skeleton is strengthening rapidly as bones continue replacing soft cartilage.",

"foods": [
 "Ragi",
 "Milk",
 "Paneer",
 "Curd",
 "Sesame Seeds"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Ragi",
 "benefit": "Provides calcium, iron and fiber that support healthy bone development.",
 "howToConsume": "Ragi dosa, ragi porridge or ragi roti."
},

"mealIdea": "Ragi cheela with curd and mint chutney.",

"tip": "Bone-building nutrients work best when consumed consistently throughout the week."
},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Spend time outdoors, continue daily movement and begin speaking to your baby regularly.",

"skipThisWeek": "Standing for very long periods without breaks.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fluid leakage, severe headaches or sudden swelling.",

"mythBuster": {

"myth": "If you feel good, you don't need extra rest.",

"truth": "Your body is still doing tremendous work even when symptoms improve."

}
},

"garbhSanskar": {

"raga": "Madhuwanti",

"affirmation": "Every day strengthens the connection between my baby and me.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What would you like your baby to know about you?",

"audioLine": "Maa, jaldi hi main tumhari awaaz sununga.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, soon I will hear your voice."

},

"reflectAndRemember": {

"reflectionPrompt": "What would you like your baby to know about you?",

"journalPrompt": "Tell your baby about who you are today, your dreams, your strengths and what matters most to you.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a relaxed outdoor photo that captures this stage of your journey.",

```
"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "More confident, settled and excited as pregnancy becomes increasingly visible.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Support healthy routines and encourage moments of rest when needed.",

  "oneMission": "Go for a walk together and spend time talking about your future as parents.",

  "shareMessage": "Our little one is growing stronger every day ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 17
{
  "week": 17,
  "phase": "connection",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Getting Stronger",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's skeleton is becoming stronger, body fat is slowly developing, and movements are becoming more coordinated.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a pear",
      "length": "about 13 cm",
      "weight": "about 140 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I am stretching, kicking and growing stronger every single day."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My skeleton is changing from soft cartilage into stronger bone. My muscles are becoming more powerful and I am practicing movements that will help me grow and develop.",

    "funFact": "Although you may not feel me yet, I am already moving, stretching and practicing tiny kicks throughout the day."
  }
}
```

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your bump is becoming more noticeable and your uterus continues expanding upward. Your blood volume is increasing significantly to support your growing baby.",

"emotionalState": "Excitement often increases around this time as mothers begin anticipating the first noticeable baby movements.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Growing bump",

"Increased appetite",

"Mild back discomfort",

"Occasional dizziness when standing quickly"

],

"selfCareTip": "Change positions slowly and stay hydrated throughout the day.",

"reassurance": "Not feeling movement yet is completely normal. Many first-time mothers won't feel kicks for a few more weeks."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Building Strong Muscles",

"focusNutrients": [

"Protein",

"Magnesium"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby's muscles are growing rapidly and need a steady supply of protein and key minerals.",

"foods": [

"Moong Dal",

"Paneer",

"Chana",

"Pumpkin Seeds",

"Curd"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Moong Dal",

"benefit": "Provides high-quality plant protein and important minerals that support muscle growth.",

"howToConsume": "Moong dal khichdi, dal soup or moong chilla."
},

"mealIdea": "Moong dal chilla stuffed with paneer and vegetables.",

"tip": "Aim to include a protein source at breakfast, lunch and dinner."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Pay attention to new sensations in your abdomen and continue building healthy daily routines.",

"skipThisWeek": "Worrying if you haven't felt the baby move yet.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fluid leakage, severe headaches, fever or significant swelling.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Every mother feels baby movements by Week 17.",
 "truth": "Movement timing varies widely, especially in first pregnancies."
}
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Tilak Kamod",

"affirmation": "I nurture my baby with calm thoughts and loving intentions.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What quality would you most like your child to have?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main roz aur mazboot ho raha hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am becoming stronger every day."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "What quality would you most love your child to have?",

"journalPrompt": "Write about the kind of person you hope your child becomes and why those qualities matter to you.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture something that represents your hopes and dreams for your child's future.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited about the possibility of feeling the baby's first movements soon.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Share in her excitement and remind her that every pregnancy follows its own timeline.",

"oneMission": "Ask her what she imagines your baby will be like and spend time dreaming together.",

"shareMessage": "Big moments are getting closer ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 18

{
 "week": 18,
 "phase": "connection",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "The World Of Sound",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby's ears are becoming more developed, and the brain is rapidly building connections that support learning and memory.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a sweet potato",
 "length": "about 14.2 cm",
 "weight": "about 190 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I am preparing to hear your voice and learn from the world around me."
},

"babyDevelopment": {

"whatImDoing": "My ears are developing rapidly and my brain is creating millions of new neural connections. I can move my arms and legs with greater control and my nervous system is becoming more sophisticated.",

"funFact": "The pathways that help me hear, learn and remember are developing quickly right now."

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your uterus continues expanding and your center of gravity is gradually shifting. Many mothers begin noticing changes in posture and balance.",

"emotionalState": "Excitement often builds as the anomaly scan approaches and the baby begins to feel more real than ever.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Back discomfort",

"Growing bump",

"Increased appetite",

"Occasional dizziness"

],

"selfCareTip": "Pay attention to posture and avoid standing in one position for too long.",

"reassurance": "Feeling excited and nervous before the anomaly scan is completely normal."
},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Growing A Smarter Brain",

"focusNutrients": [

"Omega-3",

"Healthy Fats"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby's brain and nervous system are developing rapidly and benefit from healthy fats.",

"foods": [

"Flaxseeds",

"Walnuts",

"Chia Seeds",

"Soybeans",

```
"Peanuts"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
  "food": "Flaxseed",
  "benefit": "One of the best vegetarian sources of Omega-3 fats that support brain development.",
  "howToConsume": "Use ground flaxseed in atta, curd or smoothies."
},

"mealIdea": "Curd bowl with flaxseed powder, walnuts and seasonal fruit.",

"tip": "Ground flaxseed is absorbed much better than whole flaxseed."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Prepare your questions for the anomaly scan and continue talking or reading to your baby.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Spending hours searching online for worst-case pregnancy stories.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fluid leakage, fever, severe headaches or sudden swelling.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "The anomaly scan is mainly about finding out the baby's gender.",
    "truth": "The anomaly scan is primarily performed to assess your baby's growth and development."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bhupali",

  "affirmation": "Love is already flowing between my baby and me.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What song, story or tradition would you love to share with your child?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, main tumhari awaaz sunne ki taiyaari kar raha hoon.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, I am preparing to hear your voice."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
```

"reflectionPrompt": "What song, book or story would you love your child to grow up with?",

"journalPrompt": "Record a favorite childhood memory and why you hope your child experiences something similar.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a photo of a favorite childhood book, toy, song collection or family tradition you hope to share one day.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Focused on the upcoming anomaly scan and eager to learn more about the baby's development.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Help her prepare questions and provide reassurance if she feels anxious.",

"oneMission": "Attend the anomaly scan if possible and celebrate the milestone together afterward.",

"shareMessage": "We can't wait to learn more about our little one ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
{

"week": 19,
 "phase": "connection",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Growing Senses",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby's senses are becoming more refined, and the protective coating that will help safeguard their skin is beginning to develop.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a mango",
 "length": "about 15.3 cm",
 "weight": "about 240 g"

},

"reveal": "Maa, I am growing stronger every day and becoming more ready for the world outside."

},

"babyDevelopment": {

"whatImDoing": "My brain is continuing to develop rapidly, my senses are becoming more sophisticated, and a protective coating called vernix is beginning to form on my skin. My arms and legs are stronger, and I am becoming more active.",

"funFact": "I spend much of my day moving, stretching and practicing skills that will help me after birth."

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your uterus is now approaching the level of your belly button. Many mothers notice more stretching sensations as the baby and uterus continue growing.",

"emotionalState": "You may be feeling excited about the anomaly scan while also wondering what the next half of pregnancy will bring.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Stronger stretching sensations",

"Back discomfort",

"Growing bump",

"Increased appetite"

],

"selfCareTip": "Take short breaks throughout the day to stretch and change positions, especially if you sit for long periods.",

"reassurance": "Every day your baby is becoming stronger and more developed. Growth during this phase is remarkable."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Healthy Skin & Nervous System",

"focusNutrients": [

"Healthy Fats",

"Vitamin E"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby's skin, nervous system and overall growth benefit from healthy fats and antioxidant-rich foods.",

"foods": [
 "Almonds",
 "Walnuts",
 "Peanuts",
 "Sunflower Seeds",
 "Avocado"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Almonds",
 "benefit": "Provide Vitamin E, healthy fats and antioxidants that support skin and nervous system development.",
 "howToConsume": "Consume 5–6 soaked almonds daily."
},

"mealIdea": "A bowl of curd topped with chopped almonds, walnuts and seasonal fruit.",

"tip": "Choose healthy fats from whole foods instead of processed snacks."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Prepare emotionally for your anomaly scan and continue building your connection with your baby.",

"skipThisWeek": "Reading alarming online stories before or after your scan.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, fluid leakage, fever, severe headaches or sudden swelling.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Every scan finds problems.",
 "truth": "Most scans are routine and provide reassurance that babies are developing normally."
}
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Yaman",

"affirmation": "I trust this beautiful journey and the life growing within me.",

```
"reflectionPrompt": "What has been your happiest pregnancy moment so far?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main surakshit hoon aur badh raha hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am safe and growing."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What has been your happiest pregnancy moment so far?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe a moment during pregnancy that you never want to forget.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Capture a joyful moment from this week that represents your pregnancy journey.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited but slightly anxious as the anomaly scan approaches.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Stay calm, supportive and give her space to share her thoughts and concerns.",

  "oneMission": "Ask her what she is most excited to learn about the baby and listen without distractions.",

  "shareMessage": "One more step closer to meeting our little one ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 20
{
  "week": 20,
  "phase": "connection",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Halfway There",
```

"weekHeadline": "Halfway through your pregnancy journey. This is one of the most important weeks of pregnancy — the anatomy scan week.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a banana",
 "length": "about 25.7 cm",
 "weight": "about 331 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, we are halfway there. This is one of the biggest milestones of our journey together."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "I can hear sounds now, swallow amniotic fluid and move my arms and legs with purpose. During the anomaly scan, doctors will carefully assess how I am growing and developing.",

"funFact": "I am becoming more responsive to sounds and movement, and my daily activity is increasing."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your uterus is now close to the level of your belly button. Many mothers notice stronger kicks, stretching sensations and occasional round ligament discomfort.",

"emotionalState": "Excitement and nervousness often arrive together this week. The anomaly scan feels important because it provides a detailed look at your baby's development.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Stronger fetal movements",
 "Back discomfort",
 "Stretching sensations in the abdomen",
 "Increased appetite"
],

"selfCareTip": "If your anomaly scan is scheduled this week, keep the rest of the day light. Give yourself time to process the experience and celebrate the milestone.",

"reassurance": "Feeling anxious before the anomaly scan is completely normal. Most scans are routine and provide reassurance that your baby is growing well."
},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Fueling The Second Half",

"focusNutrients": [

"Protein",

"Iron"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby is building muscles, organs and tissues rapidly as growth accelerates during the second half of pregnancy.",

"foods": [

"Paneer",

"Rajma",

"Kala Chana",

"Spinach",

"Curd",

"Moong Dal"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Kala Chana",

"benefit": "Provides both protein and iron to support rapid growth during the second half of pregnancy.",

"howToConsume": "Kala chana curry, boiled chana chaat or sprouts."

},

"mealIdea": "Palak paneer with roti and a bowl of curd.",

"tip": "From now on, focus less on eating more and more on eating nutrient-dense foods."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Celebrate your halfway milestone, attend your anomaly scan and save the memory.",

"skipThisWeek": "Spending hours reading worst-case pregnancy stories online before or after your scan.",

"redFlags": "Call your doctor if you have heavy bleeding, severe abdominal pain, persistent fluid leakage, severe headache with visual disturbances or a sudden reduction in movements after a regular pattern has already been established.",

"mythBuster": {

"myth": "The anomaly scan is only for finding problems.",

"truth": "The anomaly scan is a routine assessment performed for every pregnancy and most often provides reassurance about your baby's development."

}

},

"garbhSanskar": {

"raga": "Bhupali",

"affirmation": "My baby is growing beautifully and I trust this journey.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What was the most beautiful thing you learned about your baby today?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main tumhari awaaz pehchaanne laga hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am beginning to recognize your voice."

},

"reflectAndRemember": {

"reflectionPrompt": "What was the most beautiful thing you learned about your baby today?",

"journalPrompt": "When you imagine meeting your baby for the first time, what do you picture?",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a photo holding your scan report or with your hand gently resting on your bump.",

"cameraEnabled": true

},

"partnerCorner": {

"whatSheMayFeel": "Excited, emotional, nervous and eager to hear that everything is progressing well.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Attend the anomaly scan if possible. Listen more than you speak and help her celebrate this milestone.",

"oneMission": "Ask her what she felt when she first saw the baby on the screen and listen without distractions.",

"shareMessage": "Halfway there ❤️ Our little one is now as big as a banana and growing beautifully."
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 21

{
 "week": 21,
 "phase": "bonding",

 "babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Taste & Touch",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is becoming more aware of the world inside the womb and is beginning to experience taste and touch in new ways.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a carrot",
 "length": "about 26.7 cm",
 "weight": "about 398 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I am discovering new sensations every day and learning more about the world around me."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My taste buds are developing, I can swallow more amniotic fluid and my movements are becoming stronger and more coordinated. My brain continues creating millions of new neural connections.",

"funFact": "The flavors from foods you eat can subtly influence the taste of amniotic fluid, giving me my first introduction to different tastes."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby bump is becoming more noticeable and movements may feel stronger and more regular. Your body is continuing to adapt to your baby's rapid growth.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel increasingly connected to their baby as movements become more frequent and noticeable.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Noticeable baby movements",
"Back discomfort",
"Increased appetite",
"Mild leg cramps"

],

"selfCareTip": "Pause during the day to notice your baby's movements and enjoy these bonding moments.",

"reassurance": "Movement patterns are still developing. Some days may feel more active than others."

},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Healthy Fats For Brain Growth",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Omega-3",
 "Healthy Fats"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby's brain continues developing rapidly and benefits from a steady supply of healthy fats.",

"foods": [
 "Walnuts",
 "Flaxseeds",
 "Chia Seeds",
 "Peanuts",
 "Soybeans"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Walnuts",
 "benefit": "Provide Omega-3 fats that support healthy brain development.",
 "howToConsume": "2–4 walnut halves daily as a snack."

},

"mealIdea": "Curd bowl topped with walnuts, flaxseed powder and seasonal fruit.",

"tip": "Include a source of healthy fat every day to support your baby's growing brain."
},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Spend a few minutes each day talking, singing or reading to your baby.",

"skipThisWeek": "Ignoring persistent leg cramps or dehydration.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, fluid leakage, severe abdominal pain, severe headaches or sudden swelling.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Babies in the womb are unaware of their surroundings.",
 "truth": "Your baby is already developing the ability to hear, move, taste and respond to the environment."
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Yaman",

"affirmation": "My baby and I are learning to communicate in our own special way.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What is one thing you are most excited to show your baby about the world?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main tumhari duniya ke swaad mehsoos kar raha hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am beginning to experience the flavors of your world."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "What is one thing you are most excited to show your baby about the world?",

"journalPrompt": "Describe your perfect day with your baby one year from now.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a photo of a place you would love to visit with your child someday.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "More connected to the baby and excited by stronger movements.",

```
"whatYouCanDo": "Pause and share moments when the baby is active.",

"oneMission": "Place your hand on her bump and wait patiently for a kick.",

"shareMessage": "I love every little kick that reminds us you're growing ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 22
{
  "week": 22,
  "phase": "bonding",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "I Can Hear You",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby can now hear sounds from inside and outside the womb, including your voice.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a spaghetti squash",
      "length": "about 27.8 cm",
      "weight": "about 475 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I can hear you now. Your voice is becoming one of my favorite sounds."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My hearing is developing rapidly and I can now detect sounds such as your heartbeat, your voice and even some noises from outside the womb. My brain is continuing to process and learn from these experiences.",

    "funFact": "After birth, babies often recognize and feel comforted by their mother's voice because they've been listening to it in the womb."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your baby is growing steadily and movements may become more noticeable throughout the day. Your center of gravity continues shifting as your bump grows.",
```

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel a stronger emotional bond when they learn their baby can hear their voice.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Stronger kicks",
 "Back discomfort",
 "Stretching sensations",
 "Occasional leg cramps"
],

"selfCareTip": "Spend a few quiet minutes each day talking, reading or singing to your baby.",

"reassurance": "There is no perfect way to bond with your baby. Small daily moments matter most."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Fueling Brain Development",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Choline",
 "Protein"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's brain continues growing rapidly and needs nutrients that support memory, learning and nervous system development.",

"foods": [
 "Soybeans",
 "Paneer",
 "Milk",
 "Peanuts",
 "Moong Dal"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Soybeans",
 "benefit": "Provide protein and choline that support healthy brain development.",
 "howToConsume": "Soy chunks curry, soybean pulao or roasted soy snacks."
 },

"mealIdea": "Soybean pulao with curd and vegetable salad.",

"tip": "Try including a protein source in every meal to support your baby's growing brain."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Create a daily bonding ritual such as reading a short story, singing or talking to your baby.",

"skipThisWeek": "Assuming bonding only happens after birth.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience heavy bleeding, fluid leakage, severe abdominal pain, severe headaches, vision changes or sudden swelling.",

"mythBuster": {

"myth": "Babies cannot hear clearly until late pregnancy.",

"truth": "By this stage, your baby can already hear and respond to sounds."

}

},

"garbhSanskar": {

"raga": "Bhupali",

"affirmation": "My voice is a source of comfort and connection for my baby.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What words would you like your baby to hear most often while growing up?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main tumhari awaaz sun sakta hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I can hear your voice now."

},

"reflectAndRemember": {

"reflectionPrompt": "What words would you like your child to hear most often while growing up?",

"journalPrompt": "Write a message your child can read on their 18th birthday.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture a family moment that reflects love, connection and belonging.",

"cameraEnabled": true

},

```
"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "More emotionally attached to the baby as the pregnancy feels increasingly real.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Talk to the baby regularly and encourage shared bonding moments.",

  "oneMission": "Share one thing you are excited to teach your child someday.",

  "shareMessage": "Our little one can hear us now ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 23
{
  "week": 23,
  "phase": "bonding",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Brain Connections Everywhere",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's brain is building millions of new neural connections and learning is already beginning.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a large mango",
      "length": "about 28.9 cm",
      "weight": "about 550 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, my brain is growing rapidly and helping me understand the world around me."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My brain is developing at an incredible pace. New neural connections are forming every second, helping build the foundation for learning, memory and movement. My hearing continues improving and I can recognize familiar sounds.",

    "funFact": "The voice I hear most often now may become one of the voices I recognize after birth."
  },

  "momJourney": {
```

"physicalChanges": "Your baby is becoming stronger and more active. Kicks and movements may feel more noticeable and sometimes even visible from the outside.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel deeply connected during this phase as movement patterns become more familiar.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Noticeable kicks",
 "Back discomfort",
 "Leg cramps",
 "Increased appetite"
],

"selfCareTip": "Take a few quiet moments every day to notice your baby's movements and enjoy the connection.",

"reassurance": "Movement patterns are still developing. Some active days and quieter days are normal."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Building A Healthy Brain",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Omega-3",
 "Choline"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's brain is undergoing one of the fastest periods of growth during the entire pregnancy.",

"foods": [
 "Walnuts",
 "Flaxseeds",
 "Soybeans",
 "Peanuts",
 "Milk"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Flaxseed",
 "benefit": "Provides plant-based Omega-3 fats that support healthy brain development.",
 "howToConsume": "Mix ground flaxseed into curd, atta or smoothies."
},

```
"mealIdea": "Curd bowl with flaxseed powder, walnuts and fresh fruit.",

"tip": "Small nutritional improvements repeated daily have a big impact over time."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Continue talking, singing and reading to your baby every day.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Assuming your baby is unaware of what happens outside the womb.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, severe abdominal pain, severe headache, vision changes or sudden swelling.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Learning starts only after birth.",
    "truth": "Your baby's brain is already developing the foundations for learning, memory and recognition."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bageshree",

  "affirmation": "Every loving thought I send reaches my baby.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What values matter most to you as a parent?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, mera dimag roz naye connections bana raha hai.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, my brain is building new connections every day."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What values matter most in your family?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write about the kind of home and family culture you want your child to grow up in.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo of something that represents family, love or belonging to you.",
```

```
"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited but occasionally overwhelmed by everything that lies ahead.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Help her focus on one step at a time instead of thinking about everything at once.",

  "oneMission": "Ask her what she is most looking forward to after the baby arrives.",

  "shareMessage": "We're building a beautiful future together ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 24
{
  "week": 24,
  "phase": "bonding",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "A Growing Personality",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby's senses are becoming more refined, and sleep-wake cycles are beginning to develop.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "an ear of corn",
      "length": "about 30 cm",
      "weight": "about 635 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I am becoming stronger, more aware and more responsive every day."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My hearing is becoming sharper, my brain continues building new pathways and I am beginning to develop regular periods of sleep and activity. My lungs are also continuing their important development journey.",

    "funFact": "I may already have favorite times of day when I am most active."
  },
```

```
"momJourney": {
  "physicalChanges": "Your bump is becoming more prominent and your baby's movements may feel stronger and more predictable.",

  "emotionalState": "Many mothers begin feeling a deeper emotional connection as movement patterns become familiar.",

  "commonSymptoms": [
    "Noticeable kicks",
    "Back discomfort",
    "Leg cramps",
    "Mild swelling in feet"
  ],

  "selfCareTip": "Try to notice your baby's active periods. These moments can become special daily bonding rituals.",

  "reassurance": "Every baby develops their own movement pattern and personality inside the womb."
},

"nutrition": {
  "nutritionTheme": "Supporting Lung Development",

  "focusNutrients": [
    "Protein",
    "Iron"
  ],

  "whyNow": "Your baby's lungs and other organs continue maturing and need steady nutritional support.",

  "foods": [
    "Paneer",
    "Rajma",
    "Moong Dal",
    "Spinach",
    "Kala Chana"
  ],

  "indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
    "food": "Rajma",
    "benefit": "Provides protein, iron and fiber to support healthy growth and blood formation.",
```

```
"howToConsume": "Rajma curry with brown rice or roti."
},

"mealIdea": "Rajma rice with cucumber salad and curd.",

"tip": "Pair iron-rich foods with Vitamin C-rich fruits for better absorption."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Spend a few minutes each day noticing your baby's movement patterns.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Worrying if your baby's activity varies slightly from day to day.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, severe abdominal pain, severe headaches, vision changes or sudden swelling.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Babies sleep all the time inside the womb.",
    "truth": "Babies develop sleep and activity cycles and may have surprisingly active periods."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Kedar",

  "affirmation": "I trust the beautiful process unfolding within me.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What strength has pregnancy revealed in you?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, main roz aur taiyaar ho raha hoon.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, every day I am becoming more ready."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What strength has pregnancy revealed in you?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe a challenge you have overcome during pregnancy and what it taught you about yourself.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
"photoPrompt": "Capture a moment where you felt proud of yourself during this journey.",
"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "More confident but still seeking reassurance occasionally.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Notice and appreciate the effort she puts into caring for herself and the baby every day.",

  "oneMission": "Thank her for one specific thing she has done for your growing family.",

  "shareMessage": "You are already an incredible mother ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 25
{
  "week": 25,
  "phase": "bonding",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Recognizing Familiar Voices",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby is becoming more responsive to sound and may already recognize familiar voices and rhythms.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a rutabaga",
      "length": "about 34.6 cm",
      "weight": "about 760 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, your voice is becoming familiar to me, and every day I learn a little more about the world around me."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My hearing is becoming more refined and I am responding to sounds around me. My brain continues developing rapidly, and my movements are becoming stronger and more coordinated."
```

"funFact": "Research suggests babies may recognize familiar voices and sounds after birth if they hear them regularly during pregnancy."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby is growing quickly and your bump is becoming more prominent. You may notice stronger kicks and stretches, especially during quiet moments.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel a deeper sense of connection as they begin recognizing their baby's unique movement patterns.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Stronger kicks",
 "Back discomfort",
 "Heartburn",
 "Leg cramps"
],

"selfCareTip": "Use your baby's active moments as opportunities to pause, connect and enjoy the journey.",

"reassurance": "As your baby grows, stronger movements are a healthy sign of development."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Supporting Rapid Growth",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Protein",
 "Iron"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby is gaining weight steadily and needs nutrients that support muscle, blood and organ development.",

"foods": [
 "Paneer",
 "Rajma",
 "Chole",
 "Spinach",
 "Moong Dal"
],

```
"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
  "food": "Chole",
  "benefit": "Provides protein, iron and fiber that support healthy growth.",
  "howToConsume": "Chole curry with roti or rice."
},

"mealIdea": "Chole with roti, cucumber salad and curd.",

"tip": "Try to include a source of protein every 3–4 hours throughout the day."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Talk, sing or read to your baby daily and begin noticing movement patterns.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Ignoring persistent heartburn or dehydration.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, severe abdominal pain, severe headaches, vision changes or sudden swelling.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Babies only begin recognizing their parents after birth.",
    "truth": "Babies can become familiar with voices they hear repeatedly during pregnancy."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Madhuwanti",

  "affirmation": "Love grows stronger through small daily moments.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What has been your favorite memory from pregnancy so far?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, mujhe tumhari awaaz pehchaan aane lagi hai.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, your voice is becoming familiar to me."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What has been your favorite memory from pregnancy so far?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe a moment that made you feel deeply connected to your baby.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,
```

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a photo of something that reminds you of your baby or your growing bond.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Increasingly connected to the baby and excited about each new movement and milestone.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Join her in noticing the baby's activity and celebrate small moments together.",

"oneMission": "Spend 10 quiet minutes talking to the baby together today.",

"shareMessage": "Every kick reminds us that our little one is growing stronger ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 26

{
 "week": 26,
 "phase": "bonding",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Opening My Eyes",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby's eyes are beginning to open, and the brain continues making extraordinary progress.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a red cabbage",
 "length": "about 35.6 cm",
 "weight": "about 900 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, my eyes are beginning to open and I am becoming more aware of my surroundings."
},

"babyDevelopment": {

"whatImDoing": "My eyes are starting to open, my hearing continues improving and my brain is developing rapidly. I can respond to sounds, movement and changes in my environment.",

"funFact": "Although the womb is dark, I can already detect certain changes in light and shadow."

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your baby is becoming larger and stronger, which can make movements feel more powerful. Your body is working harder to support the growing demands of pregnancy.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel grateful, connected and increasingly aware that the third trimester is approaching.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Stronger kicks",

"Back discomfort",

"Heartburn",

"Leg cramps"

],

"selfCareTip": "Stay hydrated and stretch gently before bedtime to help reduce nighttime cramps.",

"reassurance": "As your baby grows, stronger movements and increased physical discomfort are often normal signs of progress."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Preparing For The Third Trimester",

"focusNutrients": [

"Iron",

"Protein"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby's growth is accelerating and your body is producing significantly more blood to support pregnancy.",

"foods": [

"Spinach",

"Rajma",

"Kala Chana",

"Paneer",
"Lentils"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Kala Chana",
 "benefit": "Provides iron, protein and fiber to support healthy blood production and growth.",
 "howToConsume": "Boiled chana chaat, curry or sprouts."
},

"mealIdea": "Kala chana curry with roti and fresh salad.",

"tip": "Combine iron-rich foods with Vitamin C-rich foods to improve absorption."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Review your upcoming appointments and begin thinking about third-trimester preparations.",

"skipThisWeek": "Ignoring persistent fatigue or assuming it is always normal.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, severe abdominal pain, severe headaches, vision changes, reduced fetal movement or sudden swelling.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "The baby spends all day sleeping.",
 "truth": "Your baby alternates between periods of sleep and activity and may already have recognizable patterns."
}
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Tilak Kamod",

"affirmation": "I welcome each stage of this journey with gratitude.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most grateful for this week?",

"audioLine": "Maa, meri aankhen duniya dekhne ki taiyaari kar rahi hain.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, my eyes are preparing to see the world."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {

```
"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most grateful for this week?",

"journalPrompt": "List five things that have made this pregnancy journey easier, more meaningful or more beautiful.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture something that brought you peace, comfort or gratitude this week.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "A mix of gratitude, excitement and uncertainty as the third trimester approaches.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Help organize practical plans while continuing to celebrate the present moment.",

  "oneMission": "Review important medical, insurance and maternity-related documents together.",

  "shareMessage": "One team. One journey. One growing family ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 27
{
  "week": 27,
  "phase": "bonding",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Welcome To The Third Trimester",

    "weekHeadline": "You've reached the third trimester. Your baby is growing rapidly and preparing for life outside the womb.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a cauliflower",
      "length": "about 36.6 cm",
      "weight": "about 1000 g"
```

},

"reveal": "Maa, we've entered our final trimester together. The day we meet is getting closer."
},

"babyDevelopment": {

"whatImDoing": "My brain, lungs and nervous system continue maturing rapidly. I am practicing breathing movements, opening and closing my eyes, and becoming stronger every day.",

"funFact": "If I were born now, modern medical care would give me a very good chance of survival, although I still need more time to grow."
},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your baby is now taking up much more space. You may notice stronger kicks, stretching sensations and increased pressure in your abdomen.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel proud, excited and slightly overwhelmed as they enter the final trimester.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Stronger fetal movements",

"Back discomfort",

"Heartburn",

"Difficulty finding comfortable sleeping positions"

],

"selfCareTip": "Try sleeping on your left side with a pillow between your knees and another supporting your bump.",

"reassurance": "Feeling both excited and nervous about the third trimester is completely normal."
},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Fueling Rapid Weight Gain",

"focusNutrients": [

"Protein",

"Iron"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby is entering one of the fastest periods of weight gain during pregnancy.",

"foods": [
 "Paneer",
 "Moong Dal",
 "Rajma",
 "Kala Chana",
 "Curd"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Paneer",
 "benefit": "Provides high-quality protein and calcium to support rapid growth during the third trimester.",
 "howToConsume": "Paneer bhurji, paneer curry or grilled paneer snacks."
},

"mealIdea": "Paneer bhurji with roti and a bowl of curd.",

"tip": "Aim to include a protein source with every major meal."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Celebrate reaching the third trimester and begin creating a simple birth preparation checklist.",

"skipThisWeek": "Feeling pressured to buy everything for the baby immediately.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, reduced fetal movement or sudden swelling.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "The third trimester is only about waiting for the baby.",
 "truth": "The third trimester is one of the most important periods of growth and brain development."
}
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Hansadhwani",

"affirmation": "Together we are entering a powerful new phase.",

```
"reflectionPrompt": "What dream do you have for your child?",

"audioLine": "Maa, hum teesre trimester mein aa gaye hain.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, we have entered the third trimester."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What dream do you have for your child?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write a letter describing the future you hope your child creates for themselves.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo that symbolizes hope, possibility or the future you imagine for your child.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Proud to reach the third-trimester milestone while also realizing how quickly the due date is approaching.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Celebrate this achievement and remind her how far she has already come.",

  "oneMission": "Plan a simple third-trimester celebration or special memory together.",

  "shareMessage": "Third trimester already ❤️ Look how far we've come together."
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 28
{
  "week": 28,
  "phase": "preparation",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "My Eyes Are Open",
```

"weekHeadline": "Your baby can now open and close their eyes, and brain development is accelerating rapidly.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a large eggplant",
 "length": "about 37.6 cm",
 "weight": "about 1200 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, my eyes are open now and I am becoming more aware of the world around me."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "I can open and close my eyes, blink and respond to light. My brain is developing rapidly and my lungs continue preparing for life outside the womb.",

"funFact": "If a bright light shines on your belly, I may actually turn toward it."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby is growing quickly and taking up more space. You may notice stronger kicks, increased pressure in your abdomen and more difficulty sleeping comfortably.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers begin balancing excitement about meeting their baby with thoughts about labor and birth.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Stronger fetal movements",
 "Back pain",
 "Heartburn",
 "Sleep disturbances"
],

"selfCareTip": "Prioritize sleep and create a calming bedtime routine to support your changing body.",

"reassurance": "Sleep challenges become increasingly common during the third trimester and are usually a normal part of pregnancy."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Fueling Brain Growth",

```
"focusNutrients": [
  "Omega-3",
  "Protein"
],
```

```
"whyNow": "Your baby's brain is undergoing one of its most important periods of development.",
```

```
"foods": [
  "Walnuts",
  "Flaxseeds",
  "Soybeans",
  "Paneer",
  "Curd"
],
```

```
"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
  "food": "Walnuts",
  "benefit": "Provide healthy fats that support rapid brain development.",
  "howToConsume": "2–4 walnut halves daily as a snack."
},
```

```
"mealIdea": "Curd bowl with walnuts, flaxseed powder and fruit.",
```

```
"tip": "Consistency matters more than perfection. Small healthy choices every day add up."
},
```

```
"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Begin learning about kick awareness and continue talking to your baby every day.",
```

```
  "skipThisWeek": "Ignoring persistent sleep problems or severe fatigue.",
```

```
  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",
```

```
  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Babies keep their eyes closed until birth.",
    "truth": "By this stage, babies can open and close their eyes and may respond to light."
  }
},
```

```
"garbhSanskar": {
```

```
"raga": "Bhimpalasi",

"affirmation": "I am preparing myself with calmness, confidence and love.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What kind of parent do you hope to become?",

"audioLine": "Maa, meri aankhen khul gayi hain.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, my eyes are open now."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What kind of parent do you hope to become?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe the parent you aspire to be and the values you want to embody every day.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Capture your growing bump and write one thing you are proud of as a future parent.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "More aware that birth is approaching and increasingly focused on preparing for the baby's arrival.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Learn about kick awareness and support her daily routines.",

  "oneMission": "Spend 10 minutes together noticing and celebrating your baby's movements.",

  "shareMessage": "Those little kicks are our baby's way of saying hello ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 29
{
  "week": 29,
  "phase": "preparation",
```

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Getting Stronger Every Day",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is gaining weight rapidly, building muscle and preparing for life outside the womb.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a butternut squash",
 "length": "about 38.6 cm",
 "weight": "about 1370 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I am growing stronger, rounder and more ready for the world every day."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "I am building fat under my skin, strengthening my muscles and continuing to mature my lungs and brain. My movements are becoming more powerful as I grow.",

"funFact": "My brain is developing grooves and folds that will help support learning, memory and thinking after birth."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby is taking up more space, which may lead to increased pressure on your ribs, bladder and digestive system.",

"emotionalState": "You may find yourself thinking more about labor, delivery and life with your newborn.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Frequent urination",
 "Heartburn",
 "Shortness of breath",
 "Back discomfort"
],

"selfCareTip": "Take smaller meals more frequently if heartburn is becoming a challenge.",

"reassurance": "Feeling physically uncomfortable does not mean something is wrong. Your baby is simply growing rapidly now."
},

```
"nutrition": {
  "nutritionTheme": "Supporting Healthy Weight Gain",

  "focusNutrients": [
    "Protein",
    "Healthy Fats"
  ],

  "whyNow": "Your baby is entering a period of rapid weight gain and body fat development.",

  "foods": [
    "Paneer",
    "Peanuts",
    "Walnuts",
    "Moong Dal",
    "Curd"
  ],

  "indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
    "food": "Peanuts",
    "benefit": "Provide protein, healthy fats and energy to support growth.",
    "howToConsume": "Roasted peanuts as a snack or mixed into chaat."
  },

  "mealIdea": "Paneer bhurji with roti and a small bowl of peanut chaat.",

  "tip": "Choose nutrient-dense snacks rather than highly processed foods."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Start creating a simple baby essentials checklist and discuss birth preferences with your healthcare provider.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Buying every baby product you see on social media.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "A bigger baby bump means an easier delivery.",
    "truth": "Bump size does not reliably predict delivery experience or baby size."
  }
},
```

```
"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Yaman",
```

```
  "affirmation": "I trust my instincts and my journey.",
```

```
  "reflectionPrompt": "What lesson from your childhood would you most like to pass on?",
```

```
  "audioLine": "Maa, main tumhari duniya ko mehsoos kar raha hoon.",
```

```
  "audioTranslation": "Maa, I am experiencing your world in my own way."
```

```
},
```

```
"reflectAndRemember": {
```

```
  "reflectionPrompt": "What lesson from your childhood would you most like to pass on?",
```

```
  "journalPrompt": "Tell your baby about a lesson that shaped your life and why it matters.",
```

```
  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
  "textJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo of an object, place or memory connected to your childhood.",
```

```
  "cameraEnabled": true
```

```
},
```

```
"partnerCorner": {
```

```
  "whatSheMayFeel": "More focused on baby preparations and increasingly aware that birth is approaching.",
```

```
  "whatYouCanDo": "Help separate essentials from unnecessary purchases and reduce decision fatigue.",
```

```
  "oneMission": "Create a realistic baby essentials checklist together.",
```

```
  "shareMessage": "We're preparing our home for someone very special ❤️"
},
```

```
  "audioEnabled": true
```

```
}
```

```
Week 30
```

```
{
```

```
  "week": 30,
```

```
  "phase": "preparation",
```

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Rapid Brain Growth",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby's brain is developing at an incredible pace and important neural pathways are being strengthened every day.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a large cabbage",
 "length": "about 39.9 cm",
 "weight": "about 1520 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, my brain is growing rapidly and helping me prepare for life outside your womb."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My brain is developing new folds and connections, my lungs continue maturing and I am gaining body fat that helps regulate temperature after birth.",

"funFact": "My brain now looks much more like a newborn's brain than it did just a few weeks ago."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your growing uterus may press upward on your diaphragm, making it easier to become breathless during normal activities.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers begin thinking seriously about labor, delivery and postpartum recovery.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Shortness of breath",
 "Heartburn",
 "Back pain",
 "Difficulty sleeping"
],

"selfCareTip": "Slow down when needed and give yourself permission to rest without guilt.",

"reassurance": "Feeling physically slower during the third trimester is expected and often a sign that your body is adapting to your baby's growth."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Feeding A Growing Brain",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Omega-3",
 "Protein"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby's brain is undergoing one of the most significant periods of growth during pregnancy.",

"foods": [
 "Walnuts",
 "Flaxseeds",
 "Soybeans",
 "Paneer",
 "Milk"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Flaxseed",
 "benefit": "Provides plant-based Omega-3 fats that support healthy brain development.",
 "howToConsume": "Add ground flaxseed to atta, curd or smoothies."
 },

"mealIdea": "Vegetable paratha with curd and a tablespoon of ground flaxseed mixed into yogurt.",

"tip": "Brain growth requires consistent nutrition, not occasional healthy meals."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Begin learning about labor stages and discuss any birth-related questions with your healthcare provider.",

"skipThisWeek": "Assuming labor preparation can wait until the last few weeks.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Labor always starts dramatically with water breaking.",
 "truth": "Labor can begin in many different ways, including gradual contractions."

```
}
},
```

```
"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bhupali",
```

```
  "affirmation": "I choose peace over worry.",
```

```
  "reflectionPrompt": "What helps you stay calm during uncertain moments?",
```

```
  "audioLine": "Maa, mera dimag bahut tezi se vikas kar raha hai.",
```

```
  "audioTranslation": "Maa, my brain is growing rapidly."
},
```

```
"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What helps you stay calm during uncertain moments?",
```

```
  "journalPrompt": "Write a list of the people, habits and thoughts that help you feel safe and supported.",
```

```
  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
  "textJournalEnabled": true,
```

```
  "photoPrompt": "Capture your favorite comfort space, cozy corner or place where you feel most at peace.",
```

```
  "cameraEnabled": true
},
```

```
"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Beginning to think seriously about labor and delivery while balancing excitement and uncertainty.",
```

```
  "whatYouCanDo": "Learn about labor alongside her and become an informed support person.",
```

```
  "oneMission": "Watch one childbirth education video or read one labor-preparation article together.",
```

```
  "shareMessage": "Every week brings us closer to meeting our baby ❤️"
},
```

```
"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 31
{
  "week": 31,
  "phase": "preparation",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Growing Rounder",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby is gaining fat, building strength and looking more and more like the newborn you'll soon meet.",

    "size": {
      "fruit": "a coconut",
      "length": "about 41.1 cm",
      "weight": "about 1710 g"
    },

    "reveal": "Maa, I am becoming stronger, rounder and more ready to meet you every day."
  },

  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "I am gaining body fat, strengthening my muscles and continuing to mature my lungs and brain. My movements are becoming more powerful even though space is starting to feel tighter.",

    "funFact": "Many babies now have regular sleep and wake cycles, which may explain why I seem active at certain times of the day."
  },

  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "As your baby grows, you may feel stronger stretches, kicks and pressure on your ribs. Sleep can become more challenging as finding a comfortable position gets harder.",

    "emotionalState": "You may find yourself alternating between excitement about meeting your baby and feeling overwhelmed by everything still to prepare.",

    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Difficulty sleeping",
      "Back pain",
      "Heartburn",
      "Shortness of breath"
    ]
  }
}
```

],

"selfCareTip": "Create a relaxing evening routine and use pillows to support your back, bump and legs.",

"reassurance": "Feeling physically uncomfortable does not mean something is wrong. Your baby is simply growing rapidly now."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Building Strength",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Protein",
 "Iron"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby is building muscle, storing nutrients and preparing for the final weeks of development.",

"foods": [
 "Paneer",
 "Moong Dal",
 "Rajma",
 "Kala Chana",
 "Curd"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Paneer",
 "benefit": "Provides high-quality protein and calcium to support muscle and bone development.",
 "howToConsume": "Paneer bhurji, grilled paneer or paneer curry."
},

"mealIdea": "Paneer bhurji with multigrain roti and curd.",

"tip": "Spread protein intake across the day rather than consuming most of it in one meal."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Start discussing postpartum support and recovery plans with your family and partner.",

"skipThisWeek": "Trying to do everything yourself.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "The baby is fully developed now and just gaining weight.",
 "truth": "Important brain, lung and nervous system development continues throughout the third trimester."
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Durga",

"affirmation": "My body and baby are working together beautifully.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What has pregnancy taught you about patience?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main aur mazboot aur gol-matol ho raha hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am becoming stronger and rounder."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "What has pregnancy taught you about patience?",

"journalPrompt": "Describe a situation during pregnancy that taught you to slow down, trust the process or be patient with yourself.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture a quiet everyday moment that reflects this stage of your journey.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Physically tired and mentally stretched as sleep becomes more difficult.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Protect her rest and reduce unnecessary responsibilities whenever possible.",

"oneMission": "Take ownership of one recurring household responsibility for the rest of the pregnancy.",

"shareMessage": "Rest today is an investment in tomorrow ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 32

{
 "week": 32,
 "phase": "preparation",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Practicing For Birth",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is practicing breathing, sleeping and preparing for life outside the womb.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a jicama",
 "length": "about 42.4 cm",
 "weight": "about 1900 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, I am practicing the skills I will need when we finally meet."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "I am practicing breathing movements, sleeping in cycles and continuing to mature my lungs and nervous system. My body is storing important nutrients and energy for life after birth.",

"funFact": "Although I am not breathing air yet, I regularly practice breathing movements using amniotic fluid."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby is taking up more room than ever before. You may notice increased pressure on your ribs, bladder and pelvis.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers begin mentally preparing for labor while imagining life with their newborn.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Frequent urination",
 "Shortness of breath",
 "Back discomfort",
 "Difficulty sleeping"
],

"selfCareTip": "Take breaks throughout the day and prioritize comfortable resting positions.",

"reassurance": "Many third-trimester symptoms are simply signs that your baby is growing and preparing for birth."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Preparing For Birth",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Iron",
 "Protein"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby is storing iron and nutrients that will support growth during the first months after birth.",

"foods": [
 "Spinach",
 "Rajma",
 "Kala Chana",
 "Paneer",
 "Moong Dal"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Spinach",
 "benefit": "Provides iron, folate and antioxidants that support healthy blood production.",
 "howToConsume": "Palak dal, palak paneer or spinach soup."
},

"mealIdea": "Palak paneer with roti and fresh salad.",

"tip": "Pair iron-rich foods with lemon, amla or oranges to improve absorption."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Start packing your hospital bag and ensure important documents are easily accessible.",

"skipThisWeek": "Waiting until labor begins to organize hospital essentials.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

"mythBuster": {

"myth": "Babies only start preparing for birth during labor.",

"truth": "Your baby has been preparing for birth for months through breathing practice, growth and organ development."

}

},

"garbhSanskar": {

"raga": "Kedar",

"affirmation": "I am preparing for birth one day at a time.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most looking forward to after your baby arrives?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main saans lene ki practice kar raha hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am practicing breathing."

},

"reflectAndRemember": {

"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most looking forward to after your baby arrives?",

"journalPrompt": "Describe your first day at home with your newborn. What do you imagine it will feel like?",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture something you have prepared for your baby — clothes, nursery, books or a special keepsake.",

"cameraEnabled": true

},

"partnerCorner": {

"whatSheMayFeel": "Focused on preparing for birth while balancing excitement and nervous anticipation.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Help organize hospital bag essentials and practical preparations.",

"oneMission": "Pack your own hospital-day essentials and review the route to the hospital together.",

"shareMessage": "We're getting ready for the biggest day of our lives ❤️"

},

"audioEnabled": true

}

Week 33

{

"week": 33,

"phase": "preparation",

"babySnapshot": {

"milestone": "Building Immunity",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is gaining weight steadily and receiving important immune protection from you.",

"size": {

"fruit": "a pineapple",

"length": "about 43.7 cm",

"weight": "about 2100 g"

},

"reveal": "Maa, you are already helping protect me, even before I am born."

},

"babyDevelopment": {

"whatImDoing": "My brain and lungs continue maturing, and I am receiving antibodies from you that will help protect me after birth. I am gaining fat and becoming stronger every day.",

"funFact": "Many of the antibodies that help protect newborns from illness come from their mothers during the final weeks of pregnancy."

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your baby's growth may make movements feel stronger but less acrobatic because there is less room inside the uterus.",

"emotionalState": "You may be feeling excited, protective and increasingly focused on preparing for your baby's arrival.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Pelvic pressure",

"Shortness of breath",

"Back discomfort",

"Fatigue"

],

"selfCareTip": "Rest whenever your body asks for it. Energy levels often fluctuate during the final weeks.",

"reassurance": "Slower, rolling movements can be normal now as your baby has less space to move freely."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Supporting Immunity",

"focusNutrients": [

"Vitamin C",

"Protein"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby is receiving important immune support and continuing rapid growth.",

"foods": [

"Amla",

"Orange",

"Guava",

"Paneer",

"Moong Dal"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Amla",

"benefit": "Rich in Vitamin C, supporting immunity and helping improve iron absorption.",

"howToConsume": "Fresh, as juice or in homemade chutneys."

},

```
"mealIdea": "Moong dal khichdi with salad and fresh amla.",

"tip": "Vitamin C-rich foods help your body absorb iron more effectively."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Finalize your hospital bag and review your birth plan if you have one.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Assuming every baby item must be purchased before birth.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "The baby's immune system only develops after birth.",
    "truth": "Important immune protection begins during pregnancy through antibody transfer from mother to baby."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Madhuwanti",

  "affirmation": "I receive strength from generations of mothers before me.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "Which family tradition would you like your child to experience?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, tum mujhe janm se pehle hi suraksha de rahi ho.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, you are protecting me even before birth."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "Which family tradition would you like your child to experience?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write about a family memory, celebration or tradition you hope to share with your child.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,
```

"photoPrompt": "Take a photo of a family keepsake, recipe, tradition or object that holds special meaning.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited about meeting the baby but occasionally nervous about parenting and the responsibilities ahead.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Remind her that great parents learn as they go and that nobody has all the answers from day one.",

"oneMission": "Discuss one parenting value that both of you want your child to grow up with.",

"shareMessage": "Our baby doesn't need perfect parents, only loving ones ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 34

{
 "week": 34,
 "phase": "preparation",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Almost Ready",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is entering the final stage of preparation for birth and most major organs are now well developed.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a cantaloupe",
 "length": "about 45 cm",
 "weight": "about 2300 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I am almost ready. Every day brings us closer to meeting each other."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My lungs continue maturing, my brain is developing rapidly and I am gaining body fat that helps regulate my temperature after birth. Most of my systems are now preparing for life outside the womb.",

"funFact": "My fingernails have grown to the tips of my fingers and I may already have a full head of hair."

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "Your baby is taking up a significant amount of space now. You may notice increased pelvic pressure, stronger movements and greater physical fatigue.",

"emotionalState": "Many mothers feel a mixture of excitement, anticipation and occasional nervousness about labor and delivery.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Pelvic pressure",

"Back pain",

"Heartburn",

"Fatigue"

],

"selfCareTip": "Listen to your body's signals and don't hesitate to slow down when needed.",

"reassurance": "Feeling physically tired at this stage is normal. Your body is doing an extraordinary amount of work."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Final Growth Phase",

"focusNutrients": [

"Protein",

"Iron"

],

"whyNow": "Your baby continues gaining weight and storing nutrients needed for the first months after birth.",

"foods": [

"Paneer",

"Rajma",

"Kala Chana",

"Spinach",

"Curd"

],

```
"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
  "food": "Rajma",
  "benefit": "Provides protein, iron and fiber to support healthy growth during the final weeks.",
  "howToConsume": "Rajma curry with rice or roti."
},

"mealIdea": "Rajma rice with cucumber salad and curd.",

"tip": "Continue prioritizing nutrient-rich foods rather than increasing portions unnecessarily."
},

"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Complete your hospital bag, organize important documents and review labor signs.",

  "skipThisWeek": "Taking on major new commitments or physically exhausting tasks.",

  "redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

  "mythBuster": {
    "myth": "Once the baby is head-down, there is nothing left to develop.",
    "truth": "Important brain, lung and immune system development continues until birth."
  }
},

"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Bageshree",

  "affirmation": "I trust that my baby knows how to grow and my body knows how to nurture.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What are three things you already love about yourself as a mother?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, main lagbhag taiyaar hoon.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, I am almost ready."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What are three things you already love about yourself as a mother?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write a compassionate letter to yourself about the mother you are becoming and everything you have already accomplished.",
```

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Capture yourself doing something that makes you feel strong, capable or proud.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Protective of her energy, increasingly focused on birth and wanting a sense of calm and control.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Help manage expectations, reduce stress and protect her physical and emotional space.",

"oneMission": "Discuss postpartum visitor expectations and agree on boundaries that support recovery.",

"shareMessage": "Your comfort and well-being matter just as much as every other preparation ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 35

{
 "week": 35,
 "phase": "preparation",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Getting Into Position",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is likely moving into a head-down position and making final preparations for birth.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a honeydew melon",
 "length": "about 46.2 cm",
 "weight": "about 2500 g"
 },

"reveal": "Maa, I'm finding my best position for the big day. We're getting very close now."

},

"babyDevelopment": {

"whatImDoing": "My lungs are nearly mature, my brain continues developing rapidly and I am gaining body fat every day. Many babies begin settling into a head-down position around this stage.",

"funFact": "Even after birth, my brain will continue growing rapidly, but many important foundations are being built right now."

},

"momJourney": {

"physicalChanges": "You may notice increased pelvic pressure, more frequent trips to the bathroom and stronger stretching sensations as your baby grows.",

"emotionalState": "Excitement and anticipation are often mixed with curiosity about when labor will begin.",

"commonSymptoms": [

"Pelvic pressure",

"Frequent urination",

"Back pain",

"Braxton Hicks contractions"

],

"selfCareTip": "Stay hydrated and rest whenever your body asks for it. Energy conservation is important now.",

"reassurance": "Braxton Hicks contractions are common during this stage and are often your body's way of preparing for labor."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Maintaining Energy",

"focusNutrients": [

"Protein",

"Complex Carbohydrates"

],

"whyNow": "Your body is working hard and needs steady energy to support both you and your growing baby.",

"foods": [

"Oats",
"Paneer",
"Moong Dal",
"Brown Rice",
"Curd"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Oats",
 "benefit": "Provide slow-release energy and fiber that help support digestion and stable energy levels.",
 "howToConsume": "Oats porridge, vegetable oats upma or overnight oats."
},

"mealIdea": "Vegetable oats upma with curd and roasted peanuts.",

"tip": "Choose smaller frequent meals if large meals are becoming uncomfortable."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Learn the difference between Braxton Hicks contractions and true labor contractions.",

"skipThisWeek": "Panicking every time you feel tightening in your abdomen.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience fluid leakage, regular painful contractions, bleeding, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Every contraction means labor has started.",
 "truth": "Braxton Hicks contractions are common and often differ from true labor contractions."
}
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Yaman",

"affirmation": "My body is preparing wisely for birth.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most proud of from your pregnancy journey?",

"audioLine": "Maa, main tumse milne ki taiyaari kar raha hoon.",

```
"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am preparing to meet you."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What are you most proud of from your pregnancy journey?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write about the strongest version of yourself that has emerged during pregnancy.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Capture a photo that shows how far you've come since the beginning of your pregnancy.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited, impatient and increasingly aware that labor could begin in the coming weeks.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Stay calm, organized and reassuring. Help reduce unnecessary stress.",

  "oneMission": "Review labor signs together and ensure emergency contacts are easily accessible.",

  "shareMessage": "We're almost there ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 36
{
  "week": 36,
  "phase": "preparation",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Full-Term Is Near",

    "weekHeadline": "Your baby is putting the finishing touches on growth and development. The journey is entering its final stretch.",
```

"size": {
 "fruit": "a papaya",
 "length": "about 47.4 cm",
 "weight": "about 2700 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, I am getting ready. Soon we won't need imagination to meet each other."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My lungs are almost fully mature, my brain continues developing rapidly and I am practicing the reflexes I will use after birth, including sucking and grasping.",

"funFact": "I may already recognize familiar voices, songs and sounds that I've heard repeatedly during pregnancy."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby may begin moving lower into your pelvis, increasing pelvic pressure while sometimes making breathing slightly easier.",

"emotionalState": "Excitement, impatience and anticipation often become stronger as your due date approaches.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Pelvic pressure",
 "Waddling walk",
 "Frequent urination",
 "Braxton Hicks contractions"
],

"selfCareTip": "Keep your hospital bag ready and try to simplify your daily schedule.",

"reassurance": "Many women wonder if every sensation means labor is beginning. This uncertainty is completely normal."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Supporting The Final Growth Phase",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Protein",
 "Iron"
],

"whyNow": "Your baby continues gaining weight and storing nutrients needed for the first weeks after birth.",

"foods": [
 "Paneer",
 "Rajma",
 "Moong Dal",
 "Spinach",
 "Curd"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Paneer",
 "benefit": "Provides protein and calcium needed during the final stage of growth.",
 "howToConsume": "Paneer bhurji, paneer tikka or paneer curry."
},

"mealIdea": "Paneer bhurji with multigrain roti and salad.",

"tip": "Focus on consistent nourishment rather than eating larger portions."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Finalize your hospital bag, transport plans and important contact list.",

 "skipThisWeek": "Traveling far from your healthcare provider without medical advice.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor if you experience fluid leakage, bleeding, regular painful contractions, severe headache, vision changes, sudden swelling or reduced fetal movement.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "Once labor starts, you'll always know immediately.",
 "truth": "Early labor can begin gradually and sometimes feels different than expected."
}
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Bhairav",

"affirmation": "I trust my body and my baby.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most excited to experience in the first week after birth?",

```
"audioLine": "Maa, main tumse milne ke bahut kareeb hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, I am very close to meeting you."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What are you most excited to experience in the first week after birth?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe the first moment you imagine holding your baby in your arms.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo of your packed hospital bag or a special item waiting for your baby.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Ready to meet the baby while also wondering when labor will begin.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Help create a calm environment and take care of last-minute logistics.",

  "oneMission": "Do a complete hospital readiness check together.",

  "shareMessage": "The countdown is getting real ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 37
{
  "week": 37,
  "phase": "arrival",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Full Term",

    "weekHeadline": "Congratulations. Your baby is now considered full term and could arrive any day.",

    "size": {
```

"fruit": "a winter melon",
"length": "about 48.6 cm",
"weight": "about 2900 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, I am officially full term now. Whenever the time is right, I'll be ready to meet you."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
"whatImDoing": "My lungs are ready for life outside the womb, my brain continues developing and I am practicing the reflexes I will need after birth. Most of my growth now focuses on gaining strength and storing energy.",

"funFact": "Even though I am considered full term, my brain will continue developing rapidly throughout the final weeks and after birth."
},

"momJourney": {
"physicalChanges": "You may feel increased pelvic pressure, frequent urination and occasional contractions as your body prepares for labor.",

"emotionalState": "Excitement, impatience and anticipation are very common. You may find yourself wondering every day whether labor will begin.",

"commonSymptoms": [
"Pelvic pressure",
"Braxton Hicks contractions",
"Frequent urination",
"Difficulty sleeping"
],

"selfCareTip": "Focus on rest, hydration and conserving energy. Labor may begin at any time.",

"reassurance": "It is completely normal to feel ready for pregnancy to be over while also feeling nervous about labor."
},

"nutrition": {
"nutritionTheme": "Staying Energized",

"focusNutrients": [
"Protein",

"Complex Carbohydrates"

],

"whyNow": "Your body needs sustained energy as it prepares for labor and birth.",

"foods": [

"Oats",

"Paneer",

"Moong Dal",

"Brown Rice",

"Banana"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Banana",

"benefit": "Provides quick energy, potassium and easy-to-digest nutrition.",

"howToConsume": "As a snack, smoothie or with peanut butter."

},

"mealIdea": "Vegetable dal khichdi with curd and banana.",

"tip": "Avoid skipping meals. Your body needs consistent fuel during these final days."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Keep your phone charged, hospital bag ready and transportation plan finalized.",

"skipThisWeek": "Obsessing over every tiny symptom or comparing your labor timeline with others.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor immediately if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful regular contractions, reduced fetal movement, severe headache or vision changes.",

"mythBuster": {

"myth": "The due date is the exact day the baby will arrive.",

"truth": "Most babies arrive within a range of days before or after the due date."

}

},

"garbhSanskar": {

"raga": "Bhairavi",

"affirmation": "My baby and I are ready for this beautiful transition.",

```
"reflectionPrompt": "What are you most excited to see when you meet your baby?",

"audioLine": "Maa, ab hum kabhi bhi mil sakte hain.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, we could meet any day now."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What are you most excited to see when you meet your baby?",

  "journalPrompt": "Describe the very first thing you hope to do after meeting your baby.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a final bump photo and capture this once-in-a-lifetime moment.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited, impatient, emotional and constantly wondering when labor will begin.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Stay calm, available and reassuring. Help create a peaceful environment.",

  "oneMission": "Review the hospital plan one final time and make sure everything is ready.",

  "shareMessage": "Full term ❤️ We could meet our baby any day now."
},

"audioEnabled": true
}

Week 38
{
  "week": 38,
  "phase": "arrival",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "Ready For The Journey",
```

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is continuing to fine-tune important systems while preparing for birth. The wait is almost over.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a pumpkin",
 "length": "about 49.8 cm",
 "weight": "about 3100 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, I am ready for the greatest journey of my life — coming into your arms."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My lungs are ready, my brain is still developing rapidly and I continue building strength and energy reserves. Most of my work now is preparing for birth and life outside the womb.",

"funFact": "My brain will grow dramatically during my first year of life, but many of its foundations have already been built."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your baby may have dropped lower into your pelvis, increasing pressure below while sometimes making breathing easier.",

"emotionalState": "You may feel excited, impatient, emotional or deeply reflective as you approach the end of pregnancy.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Pelvic pressure",
 "Braxton Hicks contractions",
 "Difficulty sleeping",
 "Frequent urination"
],

"selfCareTip": "Rest whenever possible. Your body is preparing for one of the most demanding and beautiful experiences of your life.",

"reassurance": "Every day your baby remains inside continues supporting development and preparation for birth."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Energy For Labor",

```
"focusNutrients": [
  "Complex Carbohydrates",
  "Protein"
],
```

```
"whyNow": "Your body needs steady energy stores as labor could begin at any time.",
```

```
"foods": [
  "Oats",
  "Brown Rice",
  "Paneer",
  "Moong Dal",
  "Banana"
],
```

```
"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
  "food": "Moong Dal",
  "benefit": "Provides easily digestible protein and energy during the final weeks of pregnancy.",
  "howToConsume": "Moong dal khichdi, soup or chilla."
},
```

```
"mealIdea": "Moong dal khichdi with curd and vegetables.",
```

```
"tip": "Choose nourishing foods that are easy to digest and provide lasting energy."
},
```

```
"actionPlan": {
  "doThisWeek": "Keep your hospital bag, medical documents and transportation plan ready at all times.",
```

```
"skipThisWeek": "Starting major home projects or exhausting yourself physically.",
```

```
"redFlags": "Contact your doctor immediately if you experience fluid leakage, bleeding, painful regular contractions, reduced fetal movement, severe headache or vision changes.",
```

```
"mythBuster": {
  "myth": "Walking can force labor to start.",
  "truth": "Gentle activity may support comfort and positioning, but labor begins when your body and baby are ready."
}
},
```

```
"garbhSanskar": {
  "raga": "Ahir Bhairav",

  "affirmation": "I trust the timing of my body and my baby.",

  "reflectionPrompt": "What has been the most beautiful part of this pregnancy journey?",

  "audioLine": "Maa, meri yatra shuru hone wali hai.",

  "audioTranslation": "Maa, my journey is about to begin."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
  "reflectionPrompt": "What has been the most beautiful part of this pregnancy journey?",

  "journalPrompt": "Write about your favorite pregnancy memory and why you never want to forget it.",

  "voiceJournalEnabled": true,

  "textJournalEnabled": true,

  "photoPrompt": "Take a photo of yourself, your partner or your family as you wait for your baby's arrival.",

  "cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
  "whatSheMayFeel": "Excited, emotional and ready to meet the baby, while also wondering when labor will start.",

  "whatYouCanDo": "Stay flexible, supportive and prepared. This is a time for reassurance, not problem-solving.",

  "oneMission": "Check hospital routes, emergency contacts and logistics one final time.",

  "shareMessage": "Every day brings us closer to holding our baby ❤️"
},

"audioEnabled": true
}
Week 39
{
```

"week": 39,
"phase": "arrival",

"babySnapshot": {
 "milestone": "Waiting For You",

"weekHeadline": "Your baby is fully developed and simply waiting for the perfect moment to begin the journey into your arms.",

"size": {
 "fruit": "a watermelon",
 "length": "about 50.7 cm",
 "weight": "about 3300 g"
},

"reveal": "Maa, I am ready. Soon I won't be listening to your heartbeat from inside — I'll be resting on your chest."
},

"babyDevelopment": {
 "whatImDoing": "My lungs are ready for my first breath, my reflexes are developed and I continue building small reserves of fat and energy. Most of my work now is waiting for labor to begin.",

"funFact": "My brain is still growing rapidly and will continue developing faster than almost any other time in my life after birth."
},

"momJourney": {
 "physicalChanges": "Your body is making final preparations for labor. You may notice increased pelvic pressure, irregular contractions and changes in energy levels.",

"emotionalState": "You may feel excited, impatient, emotional, nervous or all of them in the same day. Every feeling is normal.",

"commonSymptoms": [
 "Pelvic pressure",
 "Braxton Hicks contractions",
 "Difficulty sleeping",
 "Burst of nesting energy"
],

"selfCareTip": "Rest whenever possible. Labor is an endurance event and conserving energy now is valuable.",

"reassurance": "It is normal to feel emotionally overwhelmed as you approach one of the biggest moments of your life."

},

"nutrition": {

"nutritionTheme": "Preparing For Labor",

"focusNutrients": [

"Complex Carbohydrates",

"Hydration"

],

"whyNow": "Your body needs stable energy and hydration as labor could begin at any time.",

"foods": [

"Oats",

"Banana",

"Coconut Water",

"Brown Rice",

"Moong Dal"

],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {

"food": "Coconut Water",

"benefit": "Supports hydration and provides natural electrolytes.",

"howToConsume": "One fresh glass during the day if advised by your healthcare provider."

},

"mealIdea": "Moong dal khichdi with curd and coconut water.",

"tip": "Choose simple, nourishing foods that support energy and digestion."

},

"actionPlan": {

"doThisWeek": "Focus on rest, hydration, movement and staying mentally calm.",

"skipThisWeek": "Constantly searching for signs that labor is about to begin.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor immediately if you experience fluid leakage, bleeding, painful regular contractions, reduced fetal movement, severe headache or vision changes.",

"mythBuster": {

"myth": "If labor hasn't started yet, something is wrong.",

"truth": "Many healthy pregnancies continue into Week 40 and beyond under medical supervision."

}

},

"garbhSanskar": {

"raga": "Bhairavi",

"affirmation": "My baby and I trust the timing of this birth.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What would you like to say to your baby before meeting them?",

"audioLine": "Maa, bas thoda sa intezaar aur.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, just a little more waiting."

},

"reflectAndRemember": {

"reflectionPrompt": "What would you like to say to your baby before meeting them?",

"journalPrompt": "Write a final letter to your baby before birth. Tell them what awaits them, how loved they are and how excited you are to meet them.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take a final pregnancy photo that captures your anticipation and excitement before birth.",

"cameraEnabled": true

},

"partnerCorner": {

"whatSheMayFeel": "Ready, emotional, impatient and deeply focused on meeting the baby.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Stay present, calm and supportive. Your confidence can be incredibly reassuring.",

"oneMission": "Ask her what kind of support she wants during labor and listen carefully.",

"shareMessage": "Soon we'll finally meet the little person we've been dreaming about ❤️"

},

```
"audioEnabled": true
}
```

Week 40

```
{
  "week": 40,
  "phase": "arrival",

  "babySnapshot": {
    "milestone": "The Day We Meet",
```

```
    "weekHeadline": "This is your due week. Whether your baby arrives today, tomorrow or a few days later, the journey that began 40 weeks ago is about to transform forever.",
```

```
    "size": {
      "fruit": "a small watermelon",
      "length": "about 51.2 cm",
      "weight": "about 3500 g"
    },
```

```
    "reveal": "Maa, our longest journey together is almost complete. The next time we meet, it may be face to face."
  },
```

```
  "babyDevelopment": {
    "whatImDoing": "My lungs are ready for my first breath. My heart, brain and body are prepared for life outside the womb. Right now, I am waiting for the perfect moment to begin my journey into your arms.",
```

```
    "funFact": "Although I am ready to be born, my brain will continue growing faster during my first year than at almost any other time in life."
  },
```

```
  "momJourney": {
    "physicalChanges": "Your body is doing incredible work preparing for labor. Contractions may come and go, sleep may be difficult and every sensation can feel meaningful.",
```

```
    "emotionalState": "You may feel excited, impatient, emotional, nervous, peaceful or all of these within the same day. Every feeling is valid.",
```

```
    "commonSymptoms": [
      "Pelvic pressure",
      "Irregular contractions",
      "Difficulty sleeping",
      "Emotional ups and downs"
```

],

"selfCareTip": "Focus only on today. Rest, hydrate, nourish yourself and trust your medical team.",

"reassurance": "Most babies arrive in their own time. A due date is a guide, not a deadline."
},

"nutrition": {
 "nutritionTheme": "Energy For Birth",

"focusNutrients": [
 "Hydration",
 "Complex Carbohydrates"
],

"whyNow": "Your body needs energy, hydration and strength as labor may begin at any time.",

"foods": [
 "Banana",
 "Oats",
 "Coconut Water",
 "Moong Dal",
 "Curd"
],

"indianSuperfoodOfTheWeek": {
 "food": "Coconut Water",
 "benefit": "Supports hydration and replenishes electrolytes during the final days of pregnancy.",
 "howToConsume": "One fresh serving during the day if approved by your healthcare provider."
},

"mealIdea": "Moong dal khichdi with curd, banana and coconut water.",

"tip": "Choose simple, familiar foods that provide steady energy and are easy to digest."
},

"actionPlan": {
 "doThisWeek": "Rest, stay hydrated, remain in touch with your healthcare provider and trust your body.",

"skipThisWeek": "Trying every internet trick to force labor to begin.",

"redFlags": "Contact your doctor immediately if you experience bleeding, fluid leakage, painful regular contractions, reduced fetal movement, severe headache, vision changes or anything that concerns you.",

"mythBuster": {
 "myth": "If labor hasn't started by the due date, something is wrong.",
 "truth": "Many healthy pregnancies continue beyond the due date under appropriate medical supervision."
},

"garbhSanskar": {
 "raga": "Bhairavi",

"affirmation": "I trust the timing of birth and the wisdom of my body.",

"reflectionPrompt": "What would you like your baby to know on the day they enter the world?",

"audioLine": "Maa, ab main tumhari baahon mein aane wala hoon.",

"audioTranslation": "Maa, now I am coming into your arms."
},

"reflectAndRemember": {
 "reflectionPrompt": "What would you like your baby to know on the day they enter the world?",

"journalPrompt": "Write your baby's welcome letter. Tell them about the family waiting for them, the dreams you have for them and the love that has surrounded them since before they were born.",

"voiceJournalEnabled": true,

"textJournalEnabled": true,

"photoPrompt": "Take your final pregnancy photo. This is the last chapter before your next photo includes your baby.",

"cameraEnabled": true
},

"partnerCorner": {
 "whatSheMayFeel": "Emotional, excited, tired, hopeful and completely focused on meeting the baby.",

"whatYouCanDo": "Be her calm. Protect her peace, advocate for her needs and remind her how strong she is.",

"oneMission": "Tell her three things you admire about her and one reason you know she will be an amazing mother.",

"shareMessage": "Forty weeks of love. A lifetime of memories begins now ❤️"
},

"specialMessageFromBaby": {
 "title": "A Letter From Me To You",

"message": "Maa, for forty weeks you carried me, protected me and loved me before even seeing my face. You listened to my tiny heartbeat, celebrated my kicks and dreamed about the day we would finally meet. Whenever that moment arrives, remember this — you were already my home long before I was born. Thank you for being my first world. I can't wait to meet you."
},

"audioEnabled": true
}